

Environmental, Health, and Safety Management

AECOM combines global reach with local regulatory knowledge to deliver comprehensive EHS Management Services for our clients.

Services

- EHS compliance program development and implementation
- Compliance and management systems design and implementation support
- Global EHS regulatory knowledge support
- EHS training program development and delivery support
- EHS audit program development, management, implementation, and third-party evaluations
- International Audit Protocol Consortium (IAPC) leadership forum
- Outsourcing support for EHS compliance and management programs
- EHS information management system design, implementation and support
- Merger & acquisition support/ asset /transaction due diligence services

More Information

1.978.905.2100
AskEnvironment@aecom.com

AECOM delivers innovative, leading-edge environmental, health, and safety (EHS) compliance and management services to multi-sector clients worldwide. From corporate-level environmental policy setting and enterprise-wide assessments, to facility-level EHS outsourcing initiatives and support, AECOM's client-focused, cost-effective and reliable EHS solutions improve operational efficiency and reduce risk, liability, and fines — adding true business value.

Whatever the project, our EHS team provides clients' top management with information to eliminate/ reduce EHS risks and then proactively manage the remaining EHS responsibilities and exposures while improving financial performance. With EHS professionals strategically located in over 600 office locations worldwide, we ensure seamless, consistent, highly effective consulting with in-depth knowledge of local/regional EHS requirements and a worldwide technical and regulatory expertise network.

We are experts in EHS regulatory compliance requirements that affect our clients at the local, state/provincial and national/country-level. We utilize this knowledge and experience to assist our clients with developing effective programs to satisfy their applicable EHS requirements.

In addition, our unique International Audit Protocol Consortium (IAPC) promotes best practices in global EHS management and the cost-shared development of EHS audit protocols that meet regional and national requirements around the world. Especially useful to multinational manufacturing companies, IAPC has developed and maintained EHS auditing protocols for over 40 nations or jurisdictions throughout the world.

We offer a full-suite of EHS management information services. We have designed, established and maintained information management systems to support our clients' EHS data/record management needs.

We are an award-winning global leader in providing environmental due diligence/asset transaction services associated with mergers and acquisitions. We have managed portfolios with thousands of properties to assess EHS conditions and identify potential risks.

Working as part of a client's EHS team or independently, we provide comprehensive and flexible EHS compliance and management service options to fit our clients' needs and budgets.