Why Leading Global Companies Choose IAPC

For 30 years, the International Audit Practice Consortium (IAPC®) has been the premier forum for EHS audit professionals seeking to strengthen compliance assurance programs, benchmark performance, and collaborate with industry peers. Organized by AECOM, IAPC brings together more than 85 leading global companies across manufacturing, chemical, pharmaceutical, energy, transportation, technology, and other sectors.

International Audit Practice Consortium (IAPC®)

The Value of IAPC Membership

Benchmark Against the Best

Gain access to the industry's most comprehensive EHS audit benchmarking resources, including the IAPC's Evergreen Survey and Biennial Reports on EHS Audit Practices. Members can compare their programs against peer organizations and identify opportunities for improvement.

Connect with an Unmatched Network

Join a trusted community of corporate EHS audit leaders who openly share experiences, challenges, solutions, and lessons learned. Members consistently cite networking and peer collaboration as one of the consortium's most valuable benefits.

Learn Practical, Proven Best Practices

Participate in biannual in-person meetings, virtual roundtables, and expert-led discussions covering today's most relevant topics, including AI in auditing, risk-based audit approaches, auditor development, regulatory trends, ESG integration, process safety, and compliance assurance innovation.

Access Exclusive Resources

Members receive access to the IAPC Resource Room, a comprehensive repository of benchmarking reports, presentations, webinar recordings, survey results, regulatory updates, and audit program frameworks.

Drive Continual Improvement

Whether developing a new audit program or enhancing a mature one, IAPC provides the external perspectives, benchmarking insights, and professional relationships needed to improve effectiveness, efficiency, and strategic value.

A Strategic Investment in Audit Program Excellence

IAPC membership helps private-sector companies stay ahead of evolving regulatory expectations, strengthen audit program performance, develop professional networks, and learn from the collective experience of some of the world's leading companies. For organizations committed to world-class EHS auditing and compliance assurance, IAPC membership delivers measurable value year after year.
