

Third-Party Frequently Asked Questions

What services do you procure?

To learn more about the services we procure, please visit the Integrated Services section of our website.

What kind of projects do AECOM work on?

On projects spanning transportation, buildings, water, new energy and the environment, our public- and private-sector clients trust us to solve their most complex challenges. Across the globe, our teams push the limits of what's possible and build legacies for generations to come – the world's longest cable-stayed bridge, record-breaking sports events, the largest greenfield port development mega project, life-sustaining disaster recovery programs, and the tallest tower in the Western Hemisphere. Does AECOM require Third Parties to be pre-approved?

Yes. AECOM requires all Third Parties, e.g., Subcontractor, Subconsultant, Vendors and Suppliers, to be pre-qualified.

How does my firm pre-qualify?

All Third Parties must complete a qualification process. Information required includes company structure, services provided, health and safety, environmental and quality standards, insurances held and how Third Parties demonstrate being fair and ethical and well as diverse in nature. The qualification process must initially be requested by an AECOM project manager.

My firm worked with AECOM in the past, do we have to go through the qualification process again?

AECOM requires subcontractors to undergo the approval process every three years. If you worked with us over 3 years ago, or we don't have up to date information, you will be required to go through the process again.

How does AECOM determine who it will team with for a project?

Decisions are made based on AECOM's experience working with various firms, subcontractor relationships with the customer, subcontractor experience on similar projects, small business subcontracting requirements and other related factors.

When should I contact AECOM about teaming for a project?

As early as possible.

What does AECOM expect of suppliers?

We work with suppliers who meet our rigorous quality standards and whose values are in alignment with our own. Similarly, we expect our suppliers to share the same commitments as we do towards sustainability, ESG and health and safety. You can view our Supplier Code of Conduct here.
